President's Message

The nice weather is finally here and with it comes the usual spring/summer events that we all look forward to. We get our yards cleaned up and ready to enjoy summer but most importantly, we get our Corvettes cleaned up and ready to enjoy another driving season. I look forward to dropping the top and driving my car and joining my fellow CMCC members in the different events that we will schedule this year.

Speaking of events; John has been working hard in his newly acquired position as Director of Social Events. Our first event, a tour of the North American Motor Car facility in Danbury was enjoyed by all who attended. The group enjoyed lunch following the tour at Chuck's Steakhouse. John is working on other events that will take place in the coming months and I ask that you please support him and our club by participating. We also have several car shows beginning with the show at the veteran's home in Rocky Hill that Steve P runs every year. The next two shows are in September. First, the show at NOMADS that Roland heads up every year, and the second at Cabela's which will be our first Corvette-only show put together by Woody and our car show committee. Paul has been working closely with No Rules Corvette Club to make this a successful joint effort show. We need your help with all of these shows mainly with your participation in attending and working where needed. We are also looking for your help with obtaining sponsor money. The more money that we bring in from sponsors gives a greater opportunity to make larger donations to our veterans.

Lastly, many members have been working over the past several months in different areas that will ultimately provide a better membership experience and that will enable us to enjoy each other's fellowship while working to support our veterans in need. We need all of you to participate. I realize that not everyone can attend every event, I certainly can't but everyone can attend some of them. Let's get out and enjoy the spring and summer together! See you soon, until then stay safe and keep the shiny side up!

NCCC Reverses Course on Banning the Corvette E-Ray from Competitive Events

In what was said to be a misunderstanding, the National Council of Corvette Clubs has reversed course on its ban of the 2024 Corvette E-Ray from competitive events, and now says that the first performance hybrid Corvette is welcome to participate at its track events.

Deb Murphy, President of the NCCC sent out an update late Friday evening with the following statement:

National Council of Corvette Clubs has adjusted section 1.8.14 of our event rules to allow for the inclusion of hybrid vehicles in NCCC events. The rule was originally intended to only apply to fully electric vehicles. The Chevrolet Corvette E-Ray will be allowed to compete. I believe the quickest Corvette in history will be a great addition to our future events.

Last week, the Corvette Forum was the first to highlight a change to the NCCC's 2022-23 competition handbook back in November that would have banned all EVs and hybrids containing lithium type batteries from competitive events. The rule also stated that should EVs or hybrids appear at an NCCC event, they must be "parked 30 feet minimum from structures or other vehicles."

Prior to Friday's reversal, we spoke about it with Corvette Product Manager Harlan Charles, who says they had already discussed it with the NCCC and that it was all a misunderstanding. He said the rule change was passed before the E-Ray was revealed, and Chevy's engineers maintain that the battery packs in the E-Ray are very safe for competitive events. Harlan points out that these same kinds of performance hybrids are currently racing in THE top classes at IMSA and Le Mans.

Corvette Chief Engineer Josh Holder touched on the safety aspects of the E-Ray as well during the NCM Bash, stating that the size of the battery pack is very small compared to that of fully electric EVs and that the pack itself is stored in the tunnel of the aluminum frame structure that runs through the middle of the car. Josh said they also purposely damaged the battery packs by driving nails through the cells and then charged and discharged the battery multiple times without causing a thermal event.

We are glad to hear that the NCCC is now welcoming the Corvette E-Ray to its events.

The NCCC will be hosting its 64th Annual Convention in Bowling Green on June 24th through the 30th, 2023. You can find more details at CorvettesNCCC.org.

It was a year ago that the Lost Corvettes wrapped up their epic sweepstakes to give away the 36 Corvettes that were part of the Peter Max/VH1 Collection. One of those cars was a Daytona Yellow 1969 ZL-1 Tribute Corvette Coupe, but instead of taking the keys, the winner of the car opted for the cash prize and so here are once again!

When you make a donation to the Soldiers for the Truth Foundation, you are automatically entered to win this fabulous ZL-1 Tribute Corvette, or, you can also opt for the cash prize of $50,000! The contest runs through end of December, so start collecting your tickets today! CorvetteBlogger readers can receive 30% bonus tickets with packages starting at just $25.

The 1969 model year has always been a favorite of Corvette enthusiasts and the shark design still looks great all these years later. Designed to look just like the original documented ZL-1, it's finished in Daytona Yellow with the trademark black stripe running along the front edge and coming to a point on the quarter panels. Chrome bumpers, stainless steel side exhaust, and Firestone Wide Oval tires will make you think your back in the '60s.

This ZL-1 Tribute will bring miles of smiles as you shift through the four-speed transmission that's connected to a Summit Racing 454-cubic inch engine producing 550 hp! The engine has been constructed to look like the rare ZL-1 427 engine, and the big block roar out the side exhaust is sure to turn heads wherever you roam.

While this Corvette is only a tribute to the mighty ZL-1, it's famous in its own right for being one of the 36 Corvettes offered in the 1989 VH-1 Corvette Giveaway. The collection was purchased by pop artist Peter Max who planned to use them in an art project that never materialized. For decades the 36 Corvettes would languish in a number parking garages in New York City before being rescued by the Corvette Heroes in what was dubbed "the greatest Corvette barn find ever."

The Lost Corvettes has partnered with Stand for the Troops to bring you this unique automotive sweepstakes. This Lost Corvettes Giveaway is a charitable promotion sponsored by Stand for the Troops, a 501(c)(3) organization whose current mission investigates and connects veterans to result-oriented treatments for the Traumatic Brain Injuries (TBI) and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) responsible for so many military suicides.

This 1969 Corvette ZL-1 Tribute can be yours when you make a donation to the Soldiers for the Truth Foundation. CorvetteBlogger readers can get 30% bonus tickets with ticket packages starting at $25.00. The drawing for the ZL-1 Tribute will be held December 30th, 2023.

New See-Thru Convertible Engine Appearance Package and Stingray Wheels Announced at the NCM Bash

Engine Appearance Package for Convertibles

The big news is the announcement that Chevrolet will be offering a ZZ3 Engine Appearance Package for all convertible models and that it will also be available through Chevrolet Accessories. The team said they were constantly asked about this feature, and once again, they have delivered a factory-available option for buyers.

No pricing was discussed on the cover, but the ZZ3 package will come with the see-thru panel that covers the convertible's engine bay and your choice of the Silver or Edge Red engine covers. As they were announcing the new package inside, team members quickly installed the panel on the Cacti Green E-Ray Prototype on display.

Three New Wheels for the C8 Stingray

Not wanting the C8 Corvette Stingray's past and future owners to be left out, the Corvette Team also announced three new wheel designs for the base-level car. The new Split Spoke Wheels come in two designs, Satin Graphite with Machined Edge (Q90) and Bright Machined (Q9Y). Also announced is an exciting new 15-spoke Bright Polished wheel (5DO) that is available through Chevrolet Accessories. No pricing was offered yet, but they should be comparable to other Stingray wheel options.

New Stripes and Stripe Design Revealed

The current full-length racing stripes for the Corvette Stingray and Z06 are undergoing a design change that, in our opinion, makes them look much cleaner. Currently, the front end of the stripe goes to the very edge of the front fascia, while on the back, that stripe continues through the CORVETTE letters to the edge of the trunk. The new design takes all the previous stripe colors and offers a tapered look that starts just in front of the Corvette

Cross Flags emblem. On the rear, the stripes run over the rear spoiler and stop at the top of the third brake light. You can see the design change with the E-Ray's Electric Blue stripe.

The stripe design is something we saw added to the E-Ray's visualizer back in late January, and the five new stripes are all Carbon Flash with a colored accent on the stripe's outer edge. Those accent colors are Blue, Yellow, Orange, Red, and Silver.
